

I am happy to endorse Isaac Barsoum and his web design camps. Isaac is one of the brightest and most mature students I have ever taught. His passion and skill set for web design are of the highest quality. The idea of experienced students teaching other students 21st century skills is a wonderful idea and an excellent camp for kids to attend. Isaac is responsible, trustworthy, and mature. You can rest assured that your child is in capable hands and will learn valuable web design skills. Isaac has my full support and recommendation.
